Limitless options as we can transform your conservatory even if it was originally installed by someone else.

The dangers of 'clad-over'.

In pursuit of a quick turn-around, many conservatory roof upgrades are often achieved without removing the existing roofing material.

The result is a roof for half the price of the branded product, however the original PVCu roof is probably not strong enough to support the new over-clad solid roof. This can lead to massive structural failure.

Choose Anglian for an improvement with great aesthetics and a sound build, installed to conform to current building regulations.
